Terrain

The competition takes place in two separate races in the Hasenheide park and on the Tempelhofer Feld park. In the final ranking the times of both runs are added.

HASENHEIDE

Map: Lutz Spranger, updated: May 2017, ISSOM with special symbols, 1: 4,000, eq. 2.5m, Pretex

The Hasenheide is a park in the district of Berlin-Neukölln. In addition to playgrounds, animal park, cinema and rabbit, the park also features a parked parkland. The highest elevation in the Hasenheide is the Rixdorfer Höhe – a 67.9-meter-high Trümmerberg, on the slopes of which is located in the form of a pakrlike forest vegetation. On weekends is to be expected with partly high visitor traffic in the park!

TEMPELHOFER FIELD

Map: Lutz Spranger, as of May 2017, ISSOM with special symbols, 1: 5.000, eq. 2.5m, Pretex

The Tempelhofer field is a 300-hectare big park, which is used in a variety of forms by the Berliners: running, skating, cycling, baseball, BBQ and the city garden. In a national decision in 2014 the building of houses on the outer shores of the park was prevented. Because of the Velothon taking place on the same day, large areas of the park are blocked and a particularly high volume of visitors has to be expected. A factor that should not be underestimated is the usually steady wind across the extensive parking areas.

AREA EMBARGOES

For the entire Hasenheide and the part of the Tempelhofer field to the north of the northern runway from 18.06.2017 until the end of the tournament, a ground barrier (see marked competition areas in the above card) is valid.

Competition Center

The competition center is located in the

Karlsgarten primary school (GPS: 52.48265, 13.42150), Karlsgartenstraße 7, 12049 Berlin .

Größere Karte anzeigen

You can access the competition center via the passage of the Volkshochschule Neukölln. The schoolyard is closed as part of the competition area until after the first round!
